Stress and Coping: Know Thyself New!

Aug 10
6:30pm-8:00pm

This presentation will delve into the subject of stress and explore how it can impact our life experiences from a holistic lens (body, mind, and spirit). Each individual is unique and so will be their reaction to daily events and occurrences. As one comes to understand their self-better, the task of identifying stressors, as well as outcomes and behaviours resulting from stress, can become easier. The better we know our self, the more easily we can provide our self with the appropriate care needed to restore and replenish our energy. Healthy coping strategies and tools for relaxation will also be explored and offered in this program.
