DISCUSSION TIPS
 Grade 5 Lesson 1 is a review of grade 4 content. Repetition of key tobacco prevention concepts supports knowledge retention and healthy decision making over time. MANAGE INFORMATION: Students are exposed to tobacco-like products such as e-cigarettes. Be factual with students and address common misunderstandings. See reference material below for more information. Students need to learn to authenticate and validate the source of tobacco-like product information. THINK CRITICALLY: probing questions are built into the lessons, encourage students to predict the correct answers before moving to the next slide. Link to real-life example when possible. MANAGE INFORMATION: students often over estimate how many people smoke tobacco in Alberta which demonstrates at a young age students develop a perception that smoking is normal, which it is not. Encourage students to predict the number of people who smoke (or do not smoke). Reveal the correct answer, show the pie graph and clarifying the facts to help students understand that smoking is not normal. The wrap up quiz is a timed true or false activity that can be done individually or as a class. REFERENCE MATERIAL

DISCUSSION TIPS
Define manipulative so students understand how the tobacco industry uses devious tactics nethical practices to circumvent the laws to 'trick' students into using tobacco.
 Self-esteem is identified as a vulnerable emotion which tobacco companies target. Next lesson self-esteem is further addressed and strategies to boost-self-esteem are introduced at the personal and collective level.
	AGE INFORMATION: in this lesson students will learn how to authenticate and evaluate passive sources of information. Encourage students to share examples of positive or negative tising they have seen. Discuss the various means of advertising youth see on a daily basis.
	K CRITICALLY and SOLVE COMPLEX PROBLEMS: students learn to recognize advertising as a situation that requires deeper thinking. Students learn to evaluate the deeper meaning or reasoning within the message. Discuss how students feel when they learn they are being eted' by the tobacco industry, consider ways to communicate their feelings to society.
	D COMMUNICATION SKILLS and WORK COOPERATIVELY : use the print activity to ote cooperation in the class. Have students determine how the class will communicate elfie statements to others. This advocacy focused activity can be very empowering!

DISCUSSION TIPS
This lesson is focused on building resiliency skills (social-emotional learning) to recognize negative social influences, develop self-awareness, and effectively communicate decisions.
	AGE INFORMATION and THINK CRITICALLY: in the self-esteem game students learn how to identify negative social influences, interpret and understand the message, authenticate or discredit the information, and identify a response that will protect or boost self-esteem. Negative peer influences can lead to low self-esteem. Empower students to recognize how they can take responsibility for their self-esteem (emotions) and promote a
-	ocial environment.
	DNSTRATE GOOD COMMUNICATION SKILLS: discuss the various responses in the self- m and decision-making scenarios. Have students identify respectful yet assertive egies to communicate healthy decisions. Discourage unrealistic responses in this lesson use this can lead to an inflated (and perhaps unsafe) sense of confidence.
	FIFY AND SOLVE COMPLEX PROBLEMS: discuss the decision-making and refusal egies in relation to the potential impact or possible solutions. Have students develop nses using the variety of strategies provided, select a strategy that feels best for them, xplain why they would use that specific strategy. Encouraging students to pre-implate safe and effective responses to possible negative social situation before they ience them. This will help students build confidence to appropriately and safely
-	nd in the moment.

REFUSAL SKILLS THE ACADEMY FOR TOBACCO PREVENTION

In small groups, choose one refusal strategy for each scenario. Script a refusal strategy to the peer pressure situation. Take turns practicing the refusal strategy in your group.

- 2) You and your friends have plans to meet at the movies on Friday night to see the new release. Your older sister wants to go with you. You say "OK!". When your parents drop you off with your friends, your sister pulls out an e-cigarette and asks if anyone wants to try it. She says it's awesome and everyone is doing it. How will you and your friends say "no" to your sister? Refusal strategy: ______

Script:

- You're at a family reunion, all the cousins are hanging around together. A few cousins pull out a pack of cigarettes and lights up. They look at you, you look shocked. They laugh, one says "What...you've never tried smoking? Wow you're boring! Here, give it a try, we won't tell"
