The Psychosocial Oncology team are professionals with different specialties and may include psychologists, psychiatrists, social workers or spiritual care providers. They offer different supports and services to patients and family members to help reduce emotional distress and explore how to cope. They can help with things such as communication, stress, coping with treatment side effects, mood changes, quality of life, body image or loneliness. They also make referrals to other community resources as needed.

Psychologists or Psychiatrists:

- Offer counselling or therapy to patients and their families to help reduce emotional distress and explore ways to cope.
- Facilitate support groups.
- Help with things such as communication, stress, coping with treatment side effects, mood changes, quality of life, body image or loneliness.
Social Workers:

- Resource Social Workers Provide practical support and information on resources about discharge planning, finance, personal affairs, transportation, accommodations, long-term placement and other non-medical concerns.

- Clinical Social Workers Offer counselling to patients and family members to help reduce emotional distress and explore ways to cope; facilitate support groups.

Spiritual Care Providers/Counsellors:

- Help people explore their beliefs, values, and emotions as they consider what gives them hope and comfort while living with cancer, grieving losses, and seeking meaning.

- Offer support to all, whether religious or non-religious.

Most health care centres have an area for multi-faith prayer. These spaces offer a peaceful space for quiet prayer, meditation, or reflection.

3) Cancer Patient Navigators

Cancer Patient Navigators are registered nurses with training in cancer care. They:

- Work at the community and regional cancer centres (see map, inside front cover).
- Guide patients through cancer tests, appointments, treatments and emotions.
- Offer support close to home.
- Help patients and families before, during and after treatment.

Talk to your doctor or clinic nurse at your next visit or look in the phone number listing in the Patient Guide.
4) Care Closer to Home

There are 17 cancer centres in Alberta. Depending on where you live, you may be able to receive all or some treatment and supportive resources closer to home. For example, some patients start their chemotherapy in Calgary or Edmonton, and complete it at a cancer centre closer to home. Talk to your doctor or clinic nurse at your next visit to see if these options are available for you.

Radiation therapy is currently available in Edmonton, Red Deer, Calgary, and Lethbridge, with Grande Prairie offering this treatment in the future.
Palliative care is often misunderstood and can be seen as a negative or scary thing. In fact, palliative care can provide many benefits to both patients and families. It can be:

- an added layer of support for you and your family
- appropriate at any age and at any stage of cancer
- provided along with treatment for the cancer or by itself

Palliative care can help patients and families live life to the fullest. Palliative care:

Who provides palliative care?
Your current care team can provide some palliative care. There are also specialized palliative care teams (doctors, nurses, social workers and other professionals) who work together with you, your cancer doctor and your family doctor to focus on the issues important to you. This team works with you to make care plans based on your values, preferences and wishes.
How do I get palliative care?
Palliative care is available in the home, community, nursing homes, outpatient clinics and hospitals. If you think palliative care may help you ask your care team for more information.

Cancer and cancer treatment can disrupt your lifestyle and cause physical problems that can affect how well your body functions. Sometimes, everyday activities, such as feeding or dressing yourself may become difficult.

Rehabilitation or “rehab” specialists can help with these concerns. Types of specialists include:

- Physical Therapy (PT)
- Occupational Therapy (OT)
- Speech Language Pathology (SLP)

Some cancer centres have their own rehabilitation (rehab) staff, while others work with rehab specialists in their community. Talk to your health care provider if you think rehabilitation is right for you or to get a referral.

4) Returning to Work

During your cancer experience you may have stopped working. If you are thinking about returning to work, talk with your health care team and workplace or disability provider to determine the right timing for you. A gradual return to work may be recommended.

www.cancerandwork.com
1) Medical and Health Insurance

Alberta Health Care pays for the costs of your radiation treatment and systemic treatment such as chemotherapy. However, it does not cover medications like those for pain and nausea. It is important that you have some type of private or provincial health insurance because some medicines are expensive.

If you have private or public insurance find out:

- If you have a yearly maximum for prescriptions
- Your co-pay portion
- If your plan is a direct bill plan or a reimbursement plan
- What level of coverage you have (for example, full or partial coverage)

If you need help with drug coverage, talk to a resource social worker. Phone numbers can be found in your Patient Guide.

Alberta Blue Cross

Alberta Blue Cross plans provide practical benefits you’ll use on a regular basis, and affordable protection against the high cost of unexpected illness, accidents or medical conditions.

1-800-661-6995

www.ab.bluecross.ca.

If you have no drug coverage, we encourage you to apply for Alberta Blue Cross Non Group coverage as soon as possible. It will take 3 to 4 months before Alberta Blue Cross starts covering your medicines.
Alberta Palliative Coverage Program
This insurance plan covers most of the costs for prescription drugs for those who are dealing with a terminal illness.

Alberta Blue Cross at 1-800-661-6995

Drug Access Coordinator
Many supportive medications, such as anti-nausea drugs or blood thinners, are not covered by Alberta Health Care. Without a drug plan, these prescriptions can be very expensive and patients can face thousands of dollars’ of medication costs.

Your Drug Access Coordinator can talk with the drug company to see if there are any programs that cover, or share the cost of the drug.

Please call the location closest to you.

Searching for reliable online information

Anyone can share information online and individual opinions can be confusing, scary or unrealistic. Follow these tips to help you find reliable, evidence-based information:

- Start by searching on trusted sites like those on pages 30 and 31
- Check to see if the information is current (less than 5 years old)
- Check for the credentials of the author (such as a doctor, nurse or psychologist)

More tips:

- AHS Knowledge Resource professionals have a number of website ‘Best Bets’ krs.libguides.com/cancer/patientresources bit.ly/tipsonline2

If you find information that is new or different than what you were told at the cancer centre, talk to your health care team. Your health care providers can help clarify or correct information and help relate information to your diagnosis and treatment.

CancerControl Alberta - Classes and Events

Local and provincial classes, workshops and other special events are available at different cancer centres. Check with your local centre or go online for provincial events. Enjoy live presentations on wellness at the annual Living Your Best Life With and Beyond education event.
