Re: Transfer of Care

Dear [ARIA: Insert Name],

Your hematologist/oncologist has determined that your chronic lymphocytic leukemia (CLL) is low risk and you do not require regular follow-up at the cancer centre. We want you to know that even though you are being transferred back to your primary care physician, you are not alone! Cancer Care Alberta help and support is always available to you.

There are things you can start or continue to do to manage your health care and improve your well-being. The information in this letter, along with the supports, resources and suggestions in the book After Treatment: Information and Resources to Help You Set Priorities and Take Action, can help prepare you to move forward and live your best.

Follow Up Appointments and Tests

Since we feel you are doing well, we will use a Primary Care model for your follow-up. This means that your primary health care provider (family doctor or nurse practitioner) can safely do your cancer follow-up from now on. Your primary health care provider will:

- arrange tests to check for cancer (sometimes called surveillance)
- continue to see you for any health conditions you have or any new problems
- refer you back to a specialist or your cancer doctor (hematologist) if they have any concerns

Remember, it is your responsibility to book your follow-up visits with your primary care provider so they can arrange the tests you need.

Continue to See Your Primary Health Care Provider

Continue to see your primary health care provider (such as your family doctor or nurse practitioner) for your regular health exams. We will send them a summary of follow-up recommendations so they are aware of what to do for follow-up and when/if to refer you back to the cancer centre.

If you need a family doctor, you can find one by calling Health Link Alberta (811) or going to: <https://www.albertahealthservices.ca/info/Page13253.aspx>. Once you have a doctor, let them know they can view the health care provider follow-up recommendations at www.ahs.ca/guru.

Know the Signs and Symptoms of Progressive CLL

Here is a list of general symptoms to watch for.

- Unexplained weight loss
- Profound fatigue
- Enlarging lymph nodes that are uncomfortable and/or growing continually

If these symptoms start and do not go away, call your primary care provider. You will require follow-up blood tests and a physical exam and if required, you will be referred you back to the Cancer Centre.

Other Considerations for Patients with Early Stage CLL

1. Infection Risk: You may be at a higher risk for infections. As such, we encourage patients to undergo vaccination for COVID-19, influenza, and pneumonia. Non-live vaccination against shingles should also be considered.
2. Secondary Malignancy Risk: CLL is associated with a higher risk for secondary cancers, particularly non-melanoma skin cancers. We recommend annual skin screening and/or referral to dermatology and a focus on age and risk-factor-appropriate cancer screening.

Support and General Recommendations

As you move forward, you may have questions about what is next, what you should do to take care of yourself, or how to improve your well-being.
