December 2023 Celebrating Health

Human Rights Day – Dec. 10

Theme 2023: Freedom, Equality, and Justice for all!

December 2023 marks the 75th anniversary of one of the world's most groundbreaking global pledges: the Universal Declaration of Human Rights (UDHR). This landmark document enshrines the inalienable rights that everyone is entitled to as a human being - regardless of race, colour, religion, sex, language, political or other opinion, national or social origin, property, birth or other status.

The Declaration was proclaimed by the United Nations General Assembly in Paris on 10 December 1948 and sets out, for the first time, fundamental human rights to be universally protected.

A year-long initiative focusing on universality, progress and engagement, will culminate in a high-level event in December 2023, which will announce global pledges and ideas for a vision for the future of human rights.

CMA Wellness Connection

The Canadian Medical Association virtual peer support sessions, Wellness Connection, provide a virtual, safe space where physicians and medical learners can gather to discuss shared experiences, get support, seek advice and help each other.
These virtual peer support sessions are available each week to all physicians and learners in Canada. Led by trained facilitators, sessions cover a range of topics and themes to address critical needs and emerging strategies to support physicians and learners.

- Mindful Digital Detox – Dec. 21, 5 p.m.

Talking with Men About Men and #MeToo – Lunch Hour Learning Sessions

Is it safe to make jokes? Am I allowed to hug a colleague? Can I offer comfort to someone who is upset? What kinds of touch and interaction are and aren't permissible? How can I check in with others? Can we really trust allegations of harassment? How can I know?

During the week of December 4 - 8 three male experts in gender-based violence will help answer these looming questions. We will engage each expert individually, and then as part of a panel, to help offer context and clarity on safe workplace engagement practices, tease out harassment facts from fiction, and generate accessible and practical strategies to minimize uncertainty.

Attend as many sessions as you'd like! You can view and register for the series of webinars here.

What you Didn’t Know About the Silence Around Sexual Violence – Dec. 12

This online workshop invites active participation and asks participants to (re)consider what they know about sexual violence. Participants should expect to raise at least one eyebrow, sputter at least one "Huh!", and/or to feel at least a little differently about what they know about sexual violence by the end of the learning hours.

By the end of the workshop, participants should expect to:

1. Describe at least one reason why we tend to misunderstand sexual violence;
2. Identify at least one reason why so little is done to stop people's perpetration of sexual violence;
3. List at least two things you can do to help change the culture
What you Didn’t Know About…Wednesdays

Join Meg Martin and Paula Russel, UCalgary’s Sexual Violence Prevention and Support Team, in conversation with Kiara Mikita, the Sexual Violence Educator for the Cumming School of Medicine (CSM) and AHS as they draw upon their years of work, research, and frontline experience to make sense of timely and critical issues impacting local communities.

Learn from these playful, awareness-raising discussions about relevant considerations like trauma and violence informed care, power, diversity, language, consent and refusals, allyship, and more - and how growing awareness in these areas positively impacts everyday interactions and human engagement. Listen into discussions that offer immediately applicable, evidence-based sexual violence prevention, intervention, and response strategies, and offer your own!

Join in and share your questions with Kiara, Meg, and Paula (and sometimes their guests!) and learn about how learning about sexual violence can allow us all to do better, individually and collectively, in creating safer and healthier communities to live, learn, and work in.
