3. Presentations 3.1. Indigenous Health Program – Shannon Dunfield, Manager and Shelly Gladue, Senior Advisor, Indigenous Health, North Zone	Shannon Dunfield introduced herself as the Manager - Indigenous Health, French Health and Diversity Population Public Health North Zone. She is looking forward to working with the communities in the north. Shelly Gladue provided an overview of the Indigenous Health Program (IHP), some highlights included: An explanation of the organization, an overview of the IHP history, the current IHP

	and IHP Primary Clinics. Shelly discussed addressing racism and encouraging reconciliation in AHS. She also spoke about the Enhancement of Primary Care Services for Indigenous people. The council discussed the benefits and concerns of self-identification. Shelly explained that they are looking at how people will be able to self-identify when they are receiving services and if this will be a part of Connect Care. There was concerns raised about self-identifying and if this will impact treatment. Shelly responded that there is some concern of bias but benefits are also there. This information can be used to enhance care with the feedback from people, communities and nations. The needs will also be captured and this can bring together AHS and the federal government to have a joint plan and work together. The council also shared concerns about fear and language barriers when indigenous people in the region are accessing transportation. Council also shared the importance of midwifery. Council advised more Community Health Representatives are needed in the council area.	Share the Alberta Health Community Profile for each community with members.
3.2. True to the North – report recommendations – Lianne Mercredi and True North HAC members	Liane Mercredi brought copies of the “True to the North” report for the council members. True to the North was a health services integration fund project. The project focused on how do we move forward together? Liane shared that the document aligns in some areas with the HAC work plan. Now that this document has been created it needs to be used as a resource. The council would like to share the document with the other HAC’s.	Mike Osborn will bring copies of the report to the Council of the Chairs meeting. Council to look at ways to align their work plan with the True North recommendations.
3.3. North Peace Tribal Council update	Liane Mercredi gave an update from the North Peach Tribal Council. They are currently participating in a Health Services Integration Fund project. They are working with AHS on “Making it a Better Experience”, for the Indigenous population. They are currently looking at completing cultural competency training for staff working in the area. They are developing a pin that staff who have
